

Field Trip 2024

The Department of Management, K.C. Das Commerce College organized a field trip on “A Study on the prospect of Organic Farming in the Development of Sikarhati area of Kamrup District, Assam” for the students of B.Com 6th Semester on 6th April, 2024. A total of 106 students accompanied by all the 9 faculty members of the department were taken to ARJB Farm in Barpatima Gaon, Sikarhati, Kamrup. This farm supports organic farming. The students were explained the different aspects of organic farming and they have learnt the prospects of organic farming in the present day context. The students were divided into 8 groups: Henry Fayol, F.W.Taylor, Elton Mayo, Max Weber, Philip Kotler, Mary Parker Follett and Abraham Maslow.

With the help of a well structured schedule, the students along with their respective supervisors had visited several households of Barpatima for a socio economic survey. The students also understood the impact and prospect of organic farming through this field survey. Through this field trip, the students have gained a practical experience of visiting a rural area and interacting with the local people of that area.
